

Can happiness, joy be used synonymously?

written by Special to Arkansas Catholic |

The terms joy and happiness are often used interchangeably, but distinctions exist, particularly within Catholic teachings. Joy is described as a lasting and deliberate emotion that can endure alongside sadness, while happiness is characterized as a temporary feeling.